carried out by recursion, or the single pole recursive filter implemented with look-up tables or integer math. The winner is the moving average filter. It will execute faster and not be susceptible to the development and execution problems of integer arithmetic.